

As the Principal of RSQUARE, ESQ. PLLC, Royce specializes in False Arrest/Police Brutality (1983 Civil Rights Violations), Criminal Defense, Immigration, Contracts, Employment Law, and Trademark. For 18 years, he was a partner at Emdin & Russell, LLP. Royce represented individuals in Federal and State Court, from Criminal Investigations to Trials, and represented victims of Police Brutality/False Arrest (1983 Civil Rights Violations). Most notably, he has represented the family of Ramarley Graham, who, at 18 years old, was shot to death by NYPD officers and Kawaski Trawick, killed by NYPD officers as he stood in his apartment cooking and Renise Hinton, who was catcalled and then arrested and groped because she did not respond to a police officer's sexual advances.

Dedicated to justice and reform from an early age, once Royce graduated from Hofstra University School of Law, he began his law practice as an Assistant District Attorney in the Bronx, NY, under the first African-American District Attorney, Robert Johnson. DA Johnson's leadership and multifaceted approach to preventing crime through community outreach were invaluable to Royce. He has sought to serve and represent those lost to the justice system so often. To enhance that goal, Royce Co-Founded a mentoring program named "Hoop Brothers," which combined academics and athletics to assist in the development of at-risk High School students. Hoop Brothers partnered with the Legal Aid Society. The program allowed Assistant District Attorneys to pair with High School student mentees to assist them with academic and life challenges. When this program ended, he continued to serve his community by conducting workshops and speaking engagements with organizations such as Fathers in the Hood, National Action Network-Legal Night, and Jack and Jill of America, Inc.

He adds " published author " to his resume with the 2018 release of "Cardiac Arrest ...A Tactical Guide on How to Manage Unlawful Police Stops, " he adds "published author" to his resume. As an African-American male with over two decades of legal experience, countless hours advocating for clients, and witnessing one too many lives lost, Attorney Royce Russell successfully illustrates critical ways to handle unlawful police stops. This book will be your tactical guide on the best ways to handle these encounters. This guide was mainly written with young persons of color in mind, who are disproportionately victims of unlawful police stops. Readers can hopefully mitigate the escalation of these incidents and prayerfully make it home alive. The objective of this book is for you to Think C.A.L.M.: Stay Composed* Be Aware * Listen *Make a Call. For more information, visit www.CardiacArrestBook.net.

Royce served as the co-host of Legally Speaking, which aired on WWRL 1600 am, and a Legal Analyst for Tru TV, Fox News, ABC, MSNBC, CNN, BronxNet TV, On Point Radio, NY 1, and Hot 97's Street Soldiers. Currently, he is the co-host of "Speaking Legally...Where The Legal Meets The Cultural," which airs every Wednesday on www.Facebook.com/RSQUAREESQ2